Eighty-three Congressmen United for the Democracy Thus far.

The Next House Undoubtedly Democratic.

We've met the Foo, and They are Our's!

A Democratic President is Nigh.

"Their Rights are Broken and Their Swords in Blood!"

O, such a day,
So fought, so fell, and so fairly won,
Came not till now, to dignify the times,
State's Cause's fortune.

The election last Tuesday marks a revolution in politics such as the country has never witnessed before. Owing to the late reports, we can only dish up the news in paragraphs, which "dish" to true democracy, will suffice for a royal feast!

So far as heard from the 44th Congress stands, Republicans 104, Democrats 168, Liberals 3, vacant 17; showing a Democratic gain of 88.

Kentucky sends up an unbroken delegation. Blackburn beats Marshall out of sight. Knott successful over Hill. Cackrill supposed to be elected over white in the Ninth District by a small majority.

Pennsylvania said to be Democratic by 5,000. Alabama Democratic by 6,000. New Jersey Democratic by 12,000. Missouri all right by 40,000 to 50,000. Massachusetts gone Democratic by 8,000. Michigan doubtful. Illinois Democratic by 20,000. Only six States certainly known to have gone Republican last Tuesday.

The Elections.

Elections were held in twenty-four States and three Territories, last Tuesday, at which eleven Governors, seven State Legislatures, two hundred and twelve Congressmen, and three Territorial delegates were chosen; and in addition, the Legislatures elected a large number of the occupants of the seats in the United States House of Representatives.

The following is a list of the States in which elections were held, with the number of Congressmen elected to each party:

State	Dem.	Rep.	Total
Alabama	3	5	8
Arkansas	1	3	4
California	1	1	2
Florida	2	2	4
Georgia	6	3	9
Idaho	5	14	19
Kansas	3	3	6
Kentucky	10	10	20
Louisiana	6	6	12
Maine	4	1	5
Massachusetts	11	11	22
Michigan	9	2	11
Minnesota	3	3	6
Missouri	9	13	22
Nebraska	1	1	2
New York	10	10	20
Pennsylvania	10	22	32
Rhode Island	2	2	4
South Carolina	5	5	10
Texas	3	7	10
Vermont	1	1	2
Virginia	4	4	8
Wisconsin	2	6	8
Total	104	168	272

These States against which an asterisk (*) is placed elect only members of Congress. The others elect State officers also. A Governor is to be elected in all the State elections, except those of Illinois, Louisiana, Minnesota, and Pennsylvania, which latter States elect a Lieutenant Governor. The Territories in which elections are held for delegates to Congress are Arizona, Idaho, and Washington.

The States in which elections for members for Congress have already been held are as follows:

State	Present Com.	Next Com.	Next Term
Indiana	3	10	8
Iowa	3	8	1
Maine	5	5	1
Nebraska	1	1	1
North Carolina	5	13	1
Ohio	7	13	1
Oregon	1	1	1
Vermont	1	1	1
West Virginia	2	1	1
Total	17	48	33

The only States remaining in which Congressional elections are to be held are California, which elects 4, Connecticut 4, Mississippi 6, and New Hampshire 3-17 in all, which will make the aggregate of 292 members for the 44th Congress.

The Senate at present stands 50 Republicans, 3 Independents, 29 Democrats and 1 seat (Louisiana) vacant, so that it is impossible for the Democrats to get a majority in the Senate during the next Congress. If they were to secure all the seats which are yet in doubt the Senate would still stand 43 Republicans to 31 Democrats. The political complexion of the Senate cannot be changed until 1877, when the terms of twenty-four other Senators expire.

A distinguished Kentucky preacher, incidentally referring to capital punishment in a recent sermon, said: "I hold to be the Bible teaching on the subject—that death is the rightful penalty for the crime of murder, according to the law of God; and no human legislation has any authority to alter this Divine statute; that no earthly Governor has the right to pardon in any case, except where his pardon is designed to rectify the errors arising from imperfection in human laws and their administration. I attribute much of the violence and bloodshed in our State to the common failure to punish crime—especially in the crime of murder. The sight of a human being hanging ghastly on the gallows is a most revolting spectacle, and one from which we turn instinctively away with shuddering horror; and yet when that spectacle expresses a people's abhorrence of crime and testifies to the purity and strength of government and declares that there are principles of justice more precious than even human life, we can but regard it as a 'wonderful sight.'"

As yet we have no cause to regret making this journal an uncompromising Democratic paper. It may be a popular course to blow hot and cold with the same mouth, but it doesn't suit the temperance of the editors of this humble sheet. While we respect our opponents when they make an open fight against our policies, we held in utter contempt the hand that strikes an assassin's blow. We have many true friends, who differ from us in politics, whom we are proud to own as friends and greet as countrymen, and to whom we are grateful for patronage and support. As citizens of a common country, we acknowledge their worth, as neighbors and friends, we love them. In politics, we concede them the right to make battle and fight valiantly—the harder they fight for their principles, men or measures, the more we respect them; and we believe they regard us thus generously. Let it be understood, then: In war, we strike to slay; out of war, we kiss the hand that returns the blow, and never with the lips of a Judas!

The Mayfield Eagle says: "It is a notorious fact that the grand and petty juries of our courts are more responsible for the law-breaking in Kentucky than any law officer. The judges always do their duty in instructing the juries, the Commonwealth Attorneys prosecute to the extent of the law in nearly every case, but the instruction and all the prosecution on the part of the attorney avail nothing if the juries fail to do their duty, as they generally do. It has become a very common practice for jurymen to compromise and vote upon cases as though they were not sworn to go according to law and the evidence. It is often the case that jurymen let the majority rule, regardless of what they believe to be justice."

Another fire in Lancaster about daylight on last Friday morning, destroyed the dwelling house and much of the furniture of Mr. Theodore Curry, also the kitchen and kitchen furniture of Robert D. Lusk, Esq., which nearly adjointed his house. Mr. Curry's loss is about $1,500, fully covered by insurance. Mr. Lusk had a loss of about $2,000. His dwelling was saved by the timely arrival of a Champion fire extinguisher, which the thoughtful people of Lancaster purchased a few months since. The dwelling house was insured, but whether the policy will cover the kitchen or not, is a question for the underwriters.

A KANSAS Deacon had to draw out his revolver in order to get at his nickel for the contribution box. A Mississippi worshipper's pistol exploded in his pocket while he was kneeling in prayer, and wounded the venerable Elder who was offering the prayer. As they were carrying the wounded Christian from the church he asked them to be careful and "not let his pistol drop out of his pocket and wound somebody else."

An association of sober, industrious editors and printers has been formed in Louisville for the publication of a daily evening paper styled the Evening Tribune. The first number has reached us. It is non-partisan, bold, fearless, dignified, able, and a credit to the profession of journalism. In typography it is one of the prettiest sheets extant. Its chief editor is Wallace Gruelle. Long life and prosperity attend it.

At the eleventh hour of the Congressional canvass in the Covington District the Democratic authorities succeeded in effecting a compromise between the Democratic contestants, Messrs. Hughes and Duncan, the same withdrawing from the race. Col. T. L. Jones was placed in nomination, and though opposed by Hogan (Dem.) and a popular Republican, won the race by a creditable majority.

THE KENTUCKY STATE GRANGE

The Kentucky State Grange met in Louisville last Tuesday, about three hundred representatives, male and female, in attendance. One of the important measures proposed was the establishment of a State Grange Bank.

Why this singular change, hear-her, countenance, Mr. Rad? It was inevitable, and we told you so. Your third term folly, civil rights nativeness, and grand national "outrage" manufactory, turned the stomachs of the patriotic masses. It is sad, but, like salt, saving.

What Fate imposes, men must needs abide; It boots not to resist both wind and tide.

During the examining trial of Harrie for the killing of Etward in Harrodsburg, recently, by order of the court an officer stood at the door and searched every man who entered for concealed weapons. Much to the disgust of the sensational press no weapons were found, except the stock of an old musket concealed underneath the coat of a facetious Attorney.

The Courier-Journal published last week a forty-column supplement containing the able address of T. P. Shaffer, L. L. D. to R. W. Grand Lodge of Old Fellows in session at Frankfort. We learn that this address has also been handsomely printed and illustrated in book form for gratuitous distribution among the Lodges of America.

J. C. VANPELT, whose name was made famous by the Women's Crusade, being the first to succumb to the influence of prayer and song, has gone into the liquor business again and ordered from a Cincinnati brewer a stock of beer, where the Cincinnati Commercial rejoices with exceeding great joy.

The Eighth District was saved to the Democracy by timely organization. The "Secrets" were too faint-hearted to try us after the exposure of their little game.

The election in Louisiana passed off without violence in any quarter. It is estimated that twenty per cent of the negroes voted the Democratic ticket.

The weather was so fine yesterday that it seems to have kept the Republicans away from the polls in many parts of the country.—Los. Com.

MANY long years we've waited for that wheeled vehicle, and at last it has arrived. All aboard, Democrats! off for the White House!

If the old stand-by Republican States are not now Democratic, they've got out a curious sign.

CASEY COUNTY NEWS.

MIDDLEBURG, KY., Nov. 2, 1874.

A sad death occurred near Mt. Olive, on the 28th inst. Mrs. Mary Josephine Brown, daughter of Esq. Green L. Brown, a young lady just blooming into womanhood, had made preparations to go to meeting and was waiting for other members of the family to get ready when she dropped dead from the chair. She had complained of a sore throat that morning, but otherwise was apparently well. Pat Reagan, an Irishman, working on Coffey & Taylor's contract, was badly crushed by a fall of dirt, on the 28th, from the effects of which he died on Saturday night. In your last week's account of the Bowman-Martin difficulty by leaving out some essential particulars of which you were not informed, great injustice was done young Martin. We have taken great pains to gather the particulars, the substance of which is as follows: Old man Martin and his wife were on the railroad keeping boarding-house, leaving several of their family, mere boys, at home to take care of things. Bowman came, as stated, in a state of intoxication and was violently by the boys. He ordered his horse to be put up, which they agreed to do, but became violent and threatening leaving the house to young King, a neighbor boy who had come to stay all night, in order to kill him, as he stated, the boys fastened the doors and left the house. Bowman returned and broke open the doors. Two other boys came from the railroad (Martin and Turpin) not knowing anything of the trouble and were frightened off by Bowman. He followed them and searched for them, when one of them fired a musket at him. Fearing to return to the house, they dodged him and went to a neighbor's and stayed all night. They returned home next morning, and believing from Bowman's known character that he would return, they made some preparations to defend themselves, loading old rifle. He came apparently apologetic, but exhibited a pistol, remarking that he carried no concealed weapons. He wanted to pay damages and called for the old man, when he informed that the old man was on the railroad he replied that if he had known that there had been no one about but the boys he would have fanned them out the night before. He once more became violent and bellowed, harrying his pistol out threatening to kill every one of them. He was ordered three times to leave before young Martin fired. Upon diligent inquiry we learn that the Martin's are peaceable, industrious people, while Bowman was a terror to the community. We have authority for saying that young Martin will give himself up when demanded by legal authorities.

ETHIOPIANS.

P. S.—We learn that Bowman died on Thursday night, excommunicating Martin from all time.

STOCK AND CROP ITEMS.

THE MARKET.

The local cattle market very quiet this week, and private transactions light. No sales worthy of mention.

Carr. T. D. Englehart, auctioneer, reports about 250 cattle on the market at the Harrodsburg mart, on Monday last. Sold over 100 head from $1.50 to $2.85 per cwt, according to quality. Horses and mules dull.

John Garry, of Burlington, made the following purchases of fat cattle in Harrodsburg, last week: Of Benben (center), 23 head, 1400 lbs., at $1.50; of Thos. McRoberts, 50 head, 1500 lbs., at $1.50; of J. G. Orell, 50 head, 1500 lbs., at $1.50; All these to be delivered from the 5th to the 10th of November, of P. T. Gantry, 139 head, 1550 lbs., to be delivered the 10th of December, at 6c.

In Cincinnati the market was dull, with light receipts. Prices ranged medium to fair $3.25; good qualities 4.00; no extra shipping grades offered. In Louisville the cattle market opened fairly active with light receipts. Best shipped and butcher's beefs 4.00; good fair $3.25; good stock, 800 to 1000 lbs., 2.25. No extra shipping grades offered.

This packing season having opened at all points, we give the following quotations carefully selected from Monday's reports: CINCINNATI.—$1.25 to $1.75 for poor to common; $1.50 to $2.00 for medium, and $2.00 to $2.50 for good to extra. CINCINNATI.—Market firm, active and higher; common $3.75 to $4.00; good medium $4.00 to $4.25; good packing grade $4.25 to $4.50. All sold.

LOUISVILLE.—Receipts continued very light. Market active with an upward tendency. $6.00 was paid for one lot of hogs Monday. Best $6.50; good $1.50 to $2.25; shorts $4.75 to $5.00. It is pretty well understood that Kentucky is short on hogs.

Here we have four Irish potatoes, plant-estimating the middle of May, by Mr. Reuben Williams, which average 14 lbs. each, and a delicious "Pearmain" apple, a present from T. Rutherford, weight 18 lbs.

At last, some twelve or fifteen farmers have tackled that premium turnip of Geo. Bright's, size 27 inches in circumference, weight 64 lbs. All colors, varieties, and shapes have been offered, without effect, to defeat Bright. At last he is defeated both in circumference and weight. Mr. J. G. Smith brought up a flat turnip of light weight, but measuring in circumference 23 inches. Mr. John Ramsey, a Gilbert's creek denizen, brought up a conical-shaped turnip weighing 8 lbs. Stand up Mr. Bright and receive your sentence! K. Journal, Nov. 1, 1874.

Court Items.

In the slander suit of Campbell vs. Denny, a verdict was given for the defendant. The proof was about the same as that cited in the case of Miller vs. Denny, with which our readers are familiar. Speeches, and able speeches, were made by Hon. Geo. Dutton and Col. T. P. Hill in the defense, and C. H. Hume and W. O. Bradley, Esq., for the prosecution.

The case of the commonwealth vs. Joseph Hughes, charged with the murder of Robert World, cold, near Stanford, September 17th, went to trial Tuesday morning last. The jury went to their rooms with instructions at 10 minutes to 12 o'clock, p.m., and made a verdict of manslaughter, fixing his punishment at four years in the Penitentiary, within less than 15 minutes after retiring. Sentence was immediately passed upon him, and the town clock struck twelve, while the Judge was signing the records of the day's proceedings, and before the last stroke of the clock the final adjournment of the court was announced.

Judge Wesley, on the last day of the term, appointed Hon. W. G. Welch Master Commissioner for Lincoln County, and Mr. D. W. Vanderveer, Trustee of the Jury Fund.

Religious.

A remarkable meeting has been in progress at the Baptist Church, Crab Orchard, conducted by Elder Baker, of Nicholasville. The meeting closed last night (Thursday). Up to Wednesday night the number of converts aggregated forty-five. Such a religious revival has not been felt in that section during the past quarter of a century.

Elder A. D. Rash, assisted by Elders Baker and Johnson, closed a revival at Vaco, Madison county, with fine additions.

Elders King and Thayer, of the Christian Church, are held a successful meeting at Mt. Xenia School-house, last week. Several additions.

Elder J. L. Allen has received and accepted a call from the Christian Church at Lancaster, a field peculiarly adapted to his abilities as a pastor.

Elder A. D. Rash has held a successful meeting at Hall's Gap church, this week, eight or ten additions.

An item appeared in the JOURNAL a few weeks ago, stating that a paper in circulation among the members of the Christian Church at Stanford soliciting contributions for the purpose of securing the services of a pastor—that is a preacher to preach every Lord's day. In connection with it we said that some of the membership seemed anxious to secure the pastoral services of Elder J. L. Allen at a stated salary. The Danville Advocate distorted this statement into a declaration that Elder Allen had received a unanimous call to preach at Stanford, etc. This is a mistake. It is true that a number of the membership at Stanford would like to have the services of a pastor, one who could come into their midst and labor constantly for the interest of the church and take part in every good word and work, but it is also true that so strongly are they attached to Elder King, who has preached once a month to the congregation for a number of years, that they could not and would not dispense with his teaching. Other churches place the same estimate upon his preaching, and having endeavored to secure him for their own use, would not consent to give him up, hence the impossibility, as we understood it, of securing his whole time as a pastor by the congregation at Stanford. We learn that the same is legion—placed an erroneous construction upon the article above referred to. We want such to understand that we take a little stock in his capabilities, and would be very far from doing him an intentional injury, or even conceding that any preacher in the Christian Church of Kentucky is his superior as a logician and teacher.

The delegates of the Christian congregation of Lincoln county met on Tuesday, October 20, 1874, at the Christian church at Stanford, to consider the importance of a more concentrated action on the part of the churches in regard to the missionary work. The meeting was organized by the appointment of Dr. Geo. W. Givens, Chairman, and G. H. Helms, Secretary. The object of the meeting was then stated by Elder S. H.

King, after which, on motion, it was resolved that a county co-operation be formed. On motion the Chair appointed an executive committee of five brethren, viz: W. L. Williams, R. H. King, Jesse Cook, J. S. Murphy, and P. T. Gantry, who shall so organize the county co-operation. This committee shall, with the consent of the churches, disburse all funds placed in their hands for the support of where they may be chosen to labor as evangelists. On motion the Chair appointed a financial agent in each congregation to solicit funds for missionary purposes, consisting of the following brethren: John L. Dawson, Jr., for "Givens"; P. L. Simpson for "Rush"; Branch T. J. Foster, Hustonville; W. T. Green, Crab Orchard; Rev. Cutter, Millersburg; James Duddar, Hall's Gap; James D. Rustin, Mt. Moriah; Monroe Smith, Green River; Jesse Cook, Stanford; El. Carter, McCormick's. It was agreed to meet again in Stanford the 3d Saturday in November, at 11 o'clock A. M. The meeting adjourned.

Geo. W. Givens, Ch'., G. H. Helms, Sec.

Me. H. H. of the firm of Reid & Flannery, contractors on the C. & R. R. at Cumberland river, informs us that they obtain the best coal oil in the cut on their work, to lubricate all their machinery, and the oil is of an excellent quality for the purpose. They work nearly 500 hands, and their machinery is very extensive.

remember at J. Winter & Co., corner 3d and Market streets, Louisville, you will find the most extensive stock of goods in the city. Their alterations give style and satisfactory fit.

We make the acquaintance, yesterday,
of a partner in the great New York store, which has numerous branches all over Kentucky. He informed us that he had rented the store room attached to the dwelling of Mr. J. R. Alfred, on Main street, and will take possession of it with a mammoth stock of general merchandise next week.

The headquarters of the clothing trade in the city, and the enterprise it has shown through the columns of the Lebanon Advertiser, and the fact that it will draw largely at the Stanford branch. Further information next week.

HOME JOTTINGS.
BORN.—To the wife of Geo. Hume, of the West End on the 25th ult.—a son.

With the glorious evening news result, come our landward associates.

BORN.—To the wife of Mr. Menzie Elmore, on the 25th ult., a daughter, weight 11 lbs.

To Mrs. Dr. Tom Lewis, Turnersville, we are indebted for a present of large turnips, this week.

MR. MERRIMAN is at home again after several weeks absence, and is prepared to wait upon his patrons.

MARRIED.—In Danville on the 25th inst.,
Mr. Wm. O. Dunlap to Miss Katie L. Robertson, daughter of Mr. A. S. Robertson.

CAPT. JNO. H. MCKINNEY, aged 87 years, a soldier of the war of 1812, died near Waynesburg, in this county on the 25th ult.

A MAN and wife, or two or three ordinary young men can procure boarding in a private family by applying at this office.

The issue of the proclamation by the President, setting apart the 25th inst. as a day of thanksgiving, was a signal for turkeys to roost high.

A SPECIAL term of the Lincoln Circuit Court for the trial of the several cases agreed upon, will be held in December next, commencing on the 10th.

MR. HENRY BAUGHMAN is building a commodious brick stable upon the site of the stable which was burned a few months ago. Col. Miller is also rebuilding his stable.

OUR FULASKI associates, Will. C. Card, Esq., is attending Circuit Court in Wayne county this week, and writes us to make peace with his constituents at home. He has been overworked during the past two or three weeks, and, therefore, could not be in justice to his clients, attend to his correspondence with the JOURNAL. Considering his past labors, his readers will cheerfully excuse him.

APPRAISAL IN MERGER COUNTY.—In our last issue we failed to make mention of a trial which occurred in Mercer county between Dr. W. A. Eastland and Mr.
Fred Harris, which resulted in the death of the former. The parties were near neighbors, but were not on good terms. Mr.
Harris had sold his farm, which adjoined Eastland's, with the intention of leaving the neighborhood, and at the time the difficulty occurred was having it surveyed, when a dispute arose in reference to a corner-stone, Eastland giving Harris the lie and striking him with a switch. Harris was drawn by the two and shots exchanged.
Harris was hit in the left arm and his antagonist hit in several places, death resulting in a few hours.

VALENTINE VOX, the Ventriloquist and Magician, gave a very pleasing entertainment at the Court-house, last Wednesday night, to a good-sized audience. He is a very fair ventriloquist, and does some clever tricks, excellent light balancing, etc.
His exhibition of acoustic and mental telegraphy, by the aid of mesmerism, his little boy the medium, was very interesting.
The entertainment occupied precisely two hours, and the audience was convulsed with laughter from beginning to end. Last night he gave a second entertainment, one-half of the net proceeds to be appropriated to charitable purposes in the town. We go to know before he closes. He will go to Oak Orchard this morning, and give an entertainment there to-night, Friday. He ought to have a good house.

STRANGE ACCIDENT.—A curious accident occurred at Mr. Mat. Matheny's, in this vicinity, one night this week, which illustrates the truth that man is a target for the very elements of his violence to bang away at on every favorable occasion. Alonso Martin was sitting at a table upon which was a coal oil lamp, and it is possible that he was holding a lighted candle to his fair fingers—using a pencil which he had fantastically tipped with a blank cartridge hull.
While collecting his thoughts and in his mind rounding a sentence of delicate sentiment, he was also toying with the lamp chimney with his copper-tipped pencil, little suspecting that it contained the subtle elements of volitional thunder. So soon, however, as the hull became sufficiently hunted an explosion took place, which for its suddenness and violence sent dismay to the household, and inflicted a painful wound upon Alonso, which it is not improbable will cause the loss of an eye. One of his brothers, who was sitting by, also received slight injuries. It is supposed that the hull was in reality a cap which is used to explode (blast powder).

"The melancholy days have come,
The saddest of the year,
With falling winds and falling trees,
And melancholy is the air."
Mr. Bryant, author of the above lines did not live out here in sight of the "Knobs." Melancholy days, indeed! Why, of all the days of the year, these are the most enlivening and delightful. The mind of a poet may be sad over a change of seasons that compels him to depart from the seashore, or take leave of a Saratoga resort, but to him, who in the love of nature, holds communion with her visible forms, she speaks a various language; and there is no "melancholy" about her. Nature has a voiceless eloquence as she passes into decay, admiring man to forget his visions of pride and self. This may produce "melancholy," which the squealing of porkers, squealing of sparrows and sausage—hog and hominy—serve to dissipate. It is true that vapors arise to dim the stars by night, and shadow the silvery sheen of the waning moon, filling the fields of the sun with languid, vernal haze. The trees forget the melody of the Summer birds, and all their sweet mysterious voices are lost in whipers of the stealthy winds. These may bring "melancholy." But visions of ripened nuts, roast apples, buttering quills, Spanish needles, luscious persimmons, oily pecans with golden leaves, make a man forget his solennely mighty melancholy. Having these things in mind, and a coming appetite for their enjoyment, we can look upon the fall with a "mitten with the spell of the fiery crested Marx, and steeped in bloody hue, the maple with its vengeful borrowed from the sun himself," and wonder at Mr.
Bryant's strange organism.

THE POOR YOUNG CONVICT.—Upon the eve of the departure of the Louisville train last Tuesday morning from the Stanford depot, an affecting scene was witnessed by the curious crowd which assembled to see young Jo. Hughes take his leave of friends and kindred for the gloomy cell of the convict. Many an eye was turned to weep, and many a heart was torn to rend.
Jo was a simple, quiet and orderly young man, and has many friends who deeply deplore his terrible fate on his own account, while the entire community are grieved on account of the sorrow his conduct has brought to the hearts of his aged mother and affectionate brothers and sister. Jo undoubtedly committed the crime of taking the life of a worthless and degraded negro without sufficient provocation, and his punishment is just and necessary to the proper vindication of the laws of the land.
Yet it is a hardship to send the sober, intelligent, good-looking young man to a fellow's cell for the act committed by a whisky made ruffian and crazy demon. It was not the poor young man that now has to suffer the fearful consequences of the crime, that did the awful deed. It was the red-handed demon, alcohol, which dethroned his reason and transformed him into a murderer!
What a fearful warning to his associates—to every man and boy in the community—and as his imprisonment cannot bring back the life the dead man, we hope poor Jo's fate will serve as a warning to others who do honour at the shrine of King Alcohol. We sincerely hope Jo. will pass through the trying ordeal of prison life and come out a changed man to yet live to a good and noble purpose. He has many noble traits of character, and many refined sen-sibilities not yet benumbed by liquor, and,
God knows he has ample incentives to cause him to make the best of his prison life, and when released, to inspire in him a will and purpose to nullify the disgrace, and become an ornament to his kind. Wicked associates and the bad examples set him by older heads conspired to make a felon of Jo. Hughes. Take care, young readers, that you do not meet the same fate.

We welcome to our subscription list the names of a number of friends in different sections of the county the present week.
We cannot leave our office duties to mingle with the people of the county and solicit their favors, therefore we hope that the friends who have interested themselves so generously in extending our circulation will continue their work.

INFORMATION WANTED.—My wife and daughter left my home in Lincoln county, Ky., about the 23d of October. The wife is about 45 and the daughter 16 years old.
They have light hair and blue eyes and are rather small of stature. My wife is subject to spells of insanity. She had on a black sun-bonnet when she left home. Any information of these persons will much oblige a very poor man. Papers of the State will please publish this notice. THOMAS KIRK STUD, Stanford, Ky.
